

Patricia Eder

Patricia, the newest member of our team serves in product development and educational outreach. She is the CEO of the Center for Integrative Life Healing, supporting start-up projects for social change and life healing programs. Patricia is also the CEO of Enlightened Environments, a consulting and coaching practice dedicated to building individual capacity utilizing the involvement of the emotional, spiritual and physical; culminating in a holistic and integrative approach to life. She has been involved with the Stillpoint Foundation as a student, teacher, and founder of WMTBC and is deeply dedicated to helping women understand the connection between the health of their body, mind and spirit so they may move forward with their lives, centered in heart wisdom. Patricia's mission is to inspire women to develop a new way of being that reflects their dreams, values and priorities through deep consideration of their passions and discovering their soul's purpose. She is a Reiki practitioner, Certified Mind, Body, Life Coach and Social Entrepreneur.
